

HE SAID, SHE SAID, WE LOOKED: HOW TO FIND CORROBORATING EVIDENCE

Every child sexual abuse case has corroborating evidence, but often child protection professionals do not fully develop this critical piece. Presented by a former prosecutor, this workshop will focus on several underutilized avenues of corroboration, with an emphasis on forensic interviews, digital evidence, social media, and maximizing corroborative evidence at trial.

Robert J. Peters is the Senior Attorney of the Zero Abuse Project, where he develops and delivers state-of-the-art training and comprehensive technical assistance to prosecutors and child abuse multidisciplinary team members on crimes against children. Previously, Robert worked as the Senior Cyber and Economic Crime Attorney & General Counsel with the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C), where his efforts included providing subject matter expertise on topics and training related to technology-facilitated child exploitation, and acting as lead instructor for NW3C's Judges & Prosecutors courses.
